DOING GREAT GOOD AT THIS SEASON

A superlative blood-purifying medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, combined with superlative iron tonic like Peptonin, makes the ideal all-around treatment. No other medicines possess such curative properties as these two working together.

Two dollars invested in these two medicines will bring better results than four dollars spent in any other course of treatment or attendance.

It will be wise to get them to-day.—Adv.

TO DECIDE WOMAN'S RIGHT.

To Sit in the House of Commons—Strong Court to Decide.

London, July 16.—A strong court of distinguished lawyers of England, Scotland and Ireland is to be set up to consider woman's plea that she now has a legal right to sit in the House of Commons.

The lord chancellors of England and Ireland and the lord advocate of Scotland will search the bases of the British constitution for any statutes dealing with the following questions:

Is the woman member of Parliament barred by statute?

Can she be nominated in an election?

Has she a common-law right to sit in Parliament?

When the legal experts have given their verdict it will be for the government to decide whether or not the House of Commons should be invited to take a step in favor of making it possible to elect women to Parliament.

The labor party executive has decided to draft a bill giving women the right to sit in Parliament.

GERMANS BLIND TO OUR MOTIVES

Maximilian Harden Says America Entered War from Idealistic Motives—Most Germans Decry Them.

Amsterdam, July 16.—Maximilian Harden, in an article in Zunkunft, refers to the significance of President Wilson's speech at Mount Vernon and the common celebration in Great Britain and in America of Independence day. Frankly admitting the truth of the contention that America desires no territory, that her intervention means no material gain for her, and even is bound to be extremely costly for her, Herr Harden seeks to impress upon his readers the truth that America entered the war from idealistic motives. To these motives, he says, many Germans are blind and, accordingly, most Germans decry them.

Harden recognizes the reality of danger to America from a victorious Germany and says America's decision was bound to fall where it did fall whether the president's name was Hughes, Taft, Roosevelt or Wilson.

Harden attacks Admiral Von Tirpitz, ex-minister of marine, and Dr. Von Kuehlmann, the recently retired foreign secretary, as carriers of the ancient tradition of King Frederick who, the writer quotes as saying: "Who gave one man the right to lay the foundation of fresh power on human misery and destruction? Conquered lands do not make the dominions of the conqueror or his peoples happier and a ruler who imagines he can increase his own happiness thereby is in grave error." Yet in the same year, 1740, Harden continues, King Frederick prepared and executed the invasion of Silesia. This sort of morality, Harden concludes, still inspires the rulers of Germany to-day.

IRISH WOMAN HONORED.

Mrs. Ellen Magner Was Youngest Sister of Michael O'Brien.

Dublin, July 16.—Mrs. Ellen Magner, of Waterford, who has just died, was the youngest sister of Michael O'Brien, one of the three men executed at Manchester in 1867, whose memory is kept alive in the song, "God Save Ireland," and by annual celebration all over the country.

Mrs. Magner was given a public Sinn Fein funeral with bands and an imposing procession of members of Sinn Fein clubs.

CRIMINAL SAPPING OF GERMANY'S STRENGTH

Revealed by "Labor Inspectorate for Prussia." According to the Berlin Vorwaerts—Increased Use of Labor of Women and Children.

Amsterdam, July 16 (correspondence of The Associated Press).—What the Berlin Vorwaerts terms "criminal sapping of the nation's strength" is revealed by the returns of the "labor inspectorate for Prussia" for 1917.

These statistics have not appeared during war time and socialists have long and vainly urged their reissuance. The Prussian board of trade finally yielded, and last year's figures have just been made public. Issued without text, they are eloquent in themselves, as they show increased use of the labor of women and children, which, Vorwaerts says, "will exact a fearful revenge on the future race."

Compared with pre-war statistics, male employees over 16 decreased from 2,662,152 to 1,956,292, but women employees increased from 687,734 to 1,240,593. Employees 14 to 16 years old increased 290,148 to 327,904, and children under 14, 3,584 to 6,012.

In engineering workshops alone, the number of women increased from 51,513 to 327,512.

These infractions of the workmen's protection act have grown alarmingly. By the emergency law of 1914, employers were granted exemptions which have been scandalously abused. Cases of exceeding the 10-hour working day rule for women rose from 2,869 to 6,108; suppressions of the legal lunch interval from 3,733 to 9,292; non-observance of the prohibition of night work 727 to 13,398; and non-observance of the prohibition of juvenile labor 162 to 1,209.

"The number of official inspections of factories having notably decreased, it is safe to say," adds Vorwaerts, "that law-breaking in this respect has assumed gigantic proportions," and the paper vehemently complains of the excessive indulgence shown to employers by the authorities, who, for instance, granted permission for overwork by women to the extent of 23,000,000 hours, compared with 15,000,000 in 1916, and for nightwork by women to the total of 44,000,000 hours, compared with 25,000,000.

The two-shift system is still prevalent, while three shifts are comparatively rare.

Vorwaerts demands instant measures to counteract these abuses, and the abolition of the exemption law.

ALLIES BLAMELESS.

In No Way Responsible for Death of Count Von Mirbach.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—German attempts to fasten the blame for the assassination of Count Von Mirbach in Moscow upon the allies, have been entirely thwarted by the admission of responsibility for the death of the German ambassador by the central executive committee of the left of the Social-Revolutionary party, according to advices received by the state department. No pretense is made in Moscow that the allies were in any way responsible for the assassination.
